That forthcoming naval battle will be a hummer, and no mistake.

The sight of the American flag thrown to the breezes to-morrow will recall to mind that the flag was adopted nearly a century and a half ago.

Those "conscientious objectors" who have been sentenced to 25 years imprisonment will, of course, object to the sentence.

The report of the prevalence of black smallpox in Germany will not be calculated to deter the allies from visiting that country at their first favorable opportunity.

With "over 700,000" American soldiers in France at the present time, according to official admission at Washington, it is safe to say that the actual number is considerably above that total.

We are not yet ready to believe that unwilling German soldiers have to be chained to heavy equipment in order to keep them near the front line, as one writer puts it. Such a theory is probably very fantastic, to say the least.

Because a flagman used his hands instead of a flag, nine lives were wiped out in the collision in the Central Vermont tunnel near Burlington recently. Hands are all right to talk with in some cases but that method doesn't go in railroad-ing. It is evident that some rather drastic measures must be taken.

More German propaganda is to be seen in the statement of the semi-official report from Berlin which told of a bloody defeat of the Americans on the battlefield of Bailleau wood and the heaped up American dead after the battle. But that sort of propaganda will not work out against the United States. The American people know the subtle efforts of the Germans and are prepared. The answer will be American bullets.

Just about the time General Von Stein, Prussian war minister, was telling the Reichstag that the greater part of the French army was beaten and that General Foch's reserve army "no longer exists," that same General Foch was advancing over a front of seven miles, capturing a thousand German soldiers and several guns. General Foch gave a rather convincing denial to Von Stein without saying a word.

The diverting of a large part of the new war orders to the middle-western and southern states will not be followed, of course, by any letdown in support of the government's war aims in the New England and other northeastern states which will be hit by the change, and it should be followed by increasing support of the war in the sections to be benefited, particularly the southern states.

Barre has a war chest campaign on. Some communities have found the distance from the bottom to the top of the chest quite considerable, something we trust will not hold true in the case of Barre.—Burlington News.

Thanking you for your good wishes, we have only to say that the distance from the bottom to the top of Barre's war chest is being rapidly covered and that the chest bids fair to be filled to the brim by reason of the generous response made to the appeal for concerted war charity work. In fact, the progress of the Barre war chest campaign has reached such a stage that we feel justified in recommending the plan to other communities in the state, notably Burlington. We have yet to hear of a community in Vermont which failed to come up to expectations in the filling of the war chest and we are inclined to think that any community which is able to raise its quota in a single war charity, like the Red Cross, can also attain success with the war chest proposition.

The City Council Considers More Pay for Firemen.

The regular city council meeting took place Wednesday evening. Chief of the fire department, W. A. Pattee, appeared before the council, asking how much time they wanted him to give as a notice should he decide to leave the service and, in reply to inquiries, he stated that his men were leaving him because they could not get enough wages, that E. A. Powers had gone and that George Ladd, his oldest driver, was going. The matter was left on the table for some time and towards the last of the meeting was taken up again, after which the fire committee was authorized to see the men alluded to by Chief Pattee relative to more pay and report at a special meeting. Alderman Ryan was in favor of giving the men more pay. He thought they were entitled to as much as the patrolmen. He is chairman of the fire committee. The matter of selling fireworks July 1 was left to the police department and committee. The budget was presented showing $137,091.06 available for use this year, of which $119,780.29 is expected from taxes. Of the budget the finance committee apportioned to streets, $10,800; walks, $5,500; sewers, $3,500; bridges, $3,000; fire department, $9,200; police, $4,900; lighting, $8,400; heating, $1,600; band, $1,800; hospital, $3,000; district nurse, $1,000; city farm, $8,500. The lighting committee was authorized to install six new lights and change the location of some of the street lights. The street committee was authorized to lay a cement walk on State street and a portion of Main street.

Harry Grant and Eugene Murtagh were in Montpelier city court Wednesday afternoon on the charge of larceny of cigarettes. Grant was given a sentence of four to six months in the house of correction and to pay a fine of $15 and costs. Murtagh changed his plea to that of guilty and was given the same penalty. The house of correction sentences were suspended and the boys were given time to pay their fines at the rate of $2 a week.

In the second annual D. A. R. prize essay contest, which Marquis de Lafayette chapter held among the students of the senior class of the Barre, Waterbury and Montpelier high schools, 47 essays on the subject, "Sources of Patriotic Inspiration in Vermont and Vermonters," were submitted to the judges, Prof. Clyde M. Hill, supervisor of junior high schools of Vermont, Mrs. William J. Tindall of Montpelier, Prof. Leon H. Beach, director of industrial education in Vermont. They met June 1 and awarded the prizes as follows: First prize, Clarence H. Campbell, Barre; second prize, Pauline G. Ayers, Waterbury; third prize, Louise Dewey Howland, Montpelier. Honorable mention, Morrill J. Crane, Waterbury; Vivien K. Marston, Barre; and Evelyn B. Wells, Montpelier. Mrs. Edward R. Campbell of Montpelier, chairman of the prize essay committee, went to the different high schools and delivered the prizes to the winners. Among the work reported at their annual meeting was that the chapter had adopted a French war baby and that 40 members of the chapter had subscribed for $37,000 of Liberty bonds.

WILLIAMSTOWN

Enlisting People to Invest in War Savings Stamps.

Williamstown is going "over the top" the week of June 24 in the war savings stamp drive. To do this the local committee is asking for 60 volunteers subscriptions of $417 each. These will be worth $500 Jan. 1, 1923. If the money should be needed at any time the United States will pay it back to you with interest. This is the safest investment in the world to-day. Make this a direct appeal to you—your government needs your money—be loyal, do not let your country call in vain. For further information see Dr. C. F. Robinson, town chairman of the war savings committee.

It's taxes one month, Red Cross the next, Liberty bonds the next, Y. M. C. A. the next and K. of C. subscriptions the next—"over here." "Over there" it is gas to-day, shrapnel to-morrow, machine gun fire day after to-morrow and hell every night—without 4 1/4 per cent interest on their investment of life and limb. Will Williamstown hesitate to invest money while they invest their lives? We need 58 more $417 subscribers and 200 more $83.40 subscribers. Hand in your name to Dr. C. F. Robinson, town chairman, war savings stamp committee.

The money is coming—think carefully. Can you not invest $417 in war savings stamps. Four per cent interest, free from all taxes, redeemable if you ever need the money. We need 58 more $417 subscriptions—in 1923 the government will give you $500. Besides the large subscriptions the committee wants small ones from 25c up. Everybody must help.

Miss Chlo J. Tarbell, who has been in town for several days to make arrangements for the burial of her mother, Mrs. C. E. Tarbell, started for her home in New York City last Saturday on the night train from Barre.

The "Bachelor Girls" were in Brookfield on the evening of the 11th, where they gave the play, "The Farmerette," to a rather small audience, under the auspices of the Brookfield Red Cross.

Mrs. Charles M. Seaver and Mrs. Sarah C. Seaver, with Daniel R. Martin as their guest, motored to East Brookfield last Monday, calling there on Clarence Clark, an old neighbor of Mr. Martin's.

Miss Doris Covell, who has been with relatives in town for a few days, returned yesterday to Brigham academy, Bakersfield, where she is a member of the senior class.

Vernon and Kenneth Martin, sons of Fred Martin of Bridgeport, Conn., are in town visiting their aunt and uncle, Gertrude and Albert G. Martin. The older son and his father are employed in the Craig Valve factory in that city.

As there is to be a change in the location of the central office of the People's Telephone Co. the first of July, all persons owing for service on the New England line are requested to call and pay for same at once, so that the accounts may be settled.

The Epworth league is to hold a social on the lawn of the M. E. church next Saturday evening. A program out of the usual order has been arranged for and there will be music and refreshments. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Daniel R. Martin of Pullman, Ill., who came to attend the burial of his sister, Mrs. Charlotte E. Tarbell, left town for the return trip to his home on the 10th. Mr. Martin has been connected with school work in that city for many years, as teacher, principal and superintendent, and as he expresses it, is "still in the harness."

Wesley M. Seaver, Fred Poore, George T. Colby and George E. Wilber were in Cabot to-day to attend the auction on the Dwinell farm.
